

FirstNetTM

www.firstnet.gov

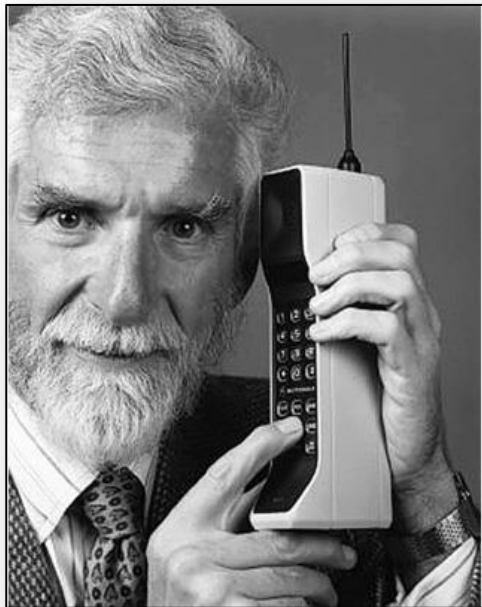

Pacific Northwest Disaster Resilience Symposium Technologies Impacting Disaster Resilience

July 25, 2017
Portland, Oregon

About This Session

Disaster Strikes RIGHT NOW What Technology Do You Most Want RIGHT NOW?

Working Smart
Phone

Power

Internet, Social Media

Something Else?

Knowing First
Responders Can Arrive

About This Session

Disaster Hit Three Days Ago

You and your family are shivering in the dark at home. Disaster teams won't arrive for three more days. What technology do you want NOW?

Working Smart
Phone

Power

Internet,
Social Media

Knowing First
Responders Can Arrive

Something Else?

About This Session: Speakers

- Kelly Enright, Director of Customer Care, Seattle City Light
- Bob Desiato, Director, AT&T Technology Operations
- Grant Tietje, Senior Project Manager, Pacific Northwest National Lab and former law enforcement officer, paramedic and emergency manager
- Bill Schrier, Senior Advisor, FirstNet, retired CIO, City of Seattle, Seattle Police Dept., Moderator

Audience Participation

Question 1: What is your Role, Today?

- 1. Elected Official
- 2. Government Official
- 3. Senior Corporate Official
- 4. Non-Profit Official
- 5. Academic
- 6. Consultant or other Industry Participant

Question 2: What Technologies are Most Important in Disaster Resilience?

- 1. Electrical Power
- 2. Cellular Network
- 3. Internet, Social Media
- 4. Television, radio and other broadcast media
- 5. Land line telephone network
- 6. Functioning 911 and Responder Dispatch
- 7. Something else?

Kelly Enright
Director of Customer Care
Seattle City Light

(Enright Slide Deck Here)

Bill Schrier
Senior Advisor
First Responder Network Authority

(Schrier Slide Deck Here)

Bob Desiato
Director
AT&T Technology Operations

(Desiato Slide Deck Here)

Grant Tietje

Senior Project Manager, Pacific Northwest National Lab
Former Law Enforcement Officer, Paramedic and Emergency Manager

(Tietje Slide Deck Here)

Question 3:

What technological systems are most important for a city, county, state or province, partnering with private industry, to improve for disaster resiliency?

Report Out from Discussion

Comments and Questions from the Panel

Summary and Wrap Up

Comments from the Panel

Contact Information

- Kelly Enright, Director of Customer Care, Seattle City Light
- Bob Desiato, Director, AT&T Technology Operations
- Grant Tietje, Senior Project Manager, Pacific Northwest National Lab and former law enforcement officer, paramedic and emergency manager
- Bill Schrier, Senior Advisor, FirstNet, retired CIO, City of Seattle, Seattle Police Dept., Moderator

For Public Safety, By Public Safety

FirstNet™

